"Pressestimmen "To say a book is a perfect tool for planning a trip is a serious statement to make, but I feel that this book comes close. Weighing in at under a pound, the book makes a possible travel companion, and its rounded corners and plasticized paper cover give it durability. It contains detailed trip information including logistical information like traveling to and from the park, suggestions for the number of days you should spend, equipment lists, information about flora and fauna, and most importantly information regarding man's history in the park. The abundance of information is easy to read and well organized, and with more than 100 colour photographs and maps it's a feast for the eyes.' --Matthew Lettington, Cloudburst, Fall/Winter 2015 Über den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende Maria Bremner has been an avid hiker, nature enthusiast and writer all her life. She studied English and Environmental Studies at the University of Victoria, and has extensive experience hiking the trails of Vancouver Island. Cape Scott has held a special place in her heart since her first visit in 1998. She lives in Victoria, BC."
