"Pressestimmen 'This book represents an exciting new stage in studies of classical Japanese literature, as scholars turn from the translation with brief introduction to studies that are the products of application of literary theory and original critical thinking. Sarra's work is a groundbreaking and original contribution to scholarship in the field of Japanese literature.'--Laurel Rasplia Rodd 'University of Colorado at Boulder ''In this sophisticated, readable study, Sarra explores the ways in which women authors exploited the potential of memoir to negotiate the limited roles assigned to them in Heian society. . . . Sarra's creative approach should have a dramatic impact on the future of this field of study.'--Choice Synopsis The history of Japanese memoir literature began over a thousand years ago, its greatest practitioners being women of the middle ranks whose literary talents won many of them positions as ladies-in-waiting at the Heian imperial court. As female writers they both inhabited and helped create a discursive world obsessed with the arts of concealment and self-display, the perils and possibilities erotic, political, and literary of real and metaphorical peepholes. As memoirists they were virtuosos in the exacting art of feminine self-representation. Fictions of Femininity explores the Heian memoirists creations of themselves in four texts: Kagero nikki (The Kagero Memoir, after 974), Makura no soshi (The Pillow Book, after 994), Sarashina nikki (The Sarashina Memoir, after 1058), and Sanuki no suke nikki (The Memoir of the Sanuki Assistant Handmaid, after 1108). Essays on the individual memoirs pursue a dual interest, asking how each text works as a rhetorical construct and how it reflects the author s negotiations with Heian fictions about women and writing.
