"Recensione ... a classic book, richly deserving of the ICA 2014 Fellows Book Award, for its own merit and for the impact on the scholarship of others. No Sense of Place is a landmark in theorizing about media. (Dafna Lemish, International Communication Association) One of the most ambitious, refreshing, and provocative attempts to expand our understanding of communications technologies. (Technology Review) Provocative.... Compelling.... An original and eclectic theory for studying the impact of any medium at any place and in any time. (Journal of Broadcasting and Electronic Media) Meyrowitz takes a panoramic view of American culture - its politics, its gender relations, its educational standards, its attitudes toward history and literacy, and much more.... He's a fine example of an interdisciplinary risk-taker. (Christian Science Monitor) Among the most important books on media yet written; a masterful piece of scholarship. (Channels) No Sense of Place is an original and deeply perceptive analysis of how the media have come to alter the texture of everyday experience. It is a stimulating work, with insights springing up on every page like wildflowers on a mountain. Written with a poet's sensitivity and a scientist's analytic precision, the book is a luminous contribution to the social psychology of our time (Stanley Milgram, author of Obedience to Authority) Brilliant.... a theoretical tour de force. (Journal of Communication) No Sense of Place is a cornucopia in the grand style: a breathtaking flurry of crisp insights, homey illustrations, ingenious tropes.... gives the reader full value in erudition and liveliness. (Quarterly Journal of Speech) L'autore Joshua Meyrowitz is Professor of Communication at the University of New Hampshire, where he has won numerous honors, including the Lindberg Award for Outstanding Scholar-Teacher in the College of Liberal Arts. He is the author of scores of articles on media and society that have appeared in scholarly journals and anthologies, as well as in general-interest magazines and newspapers."
