Willemstad, the capital and only city, is divided into Punda (the point) and Otrabanda (the other side) by a narrow channel that leads to Schottegat harbor--a harbor that is naturally protected from wind and sea. The two sections—Punda and Otrabanda—are connected by the Queen Emma pontoon bridge. Otrobanda is where you'll find much of the island's culture, dining, entertainment, and history. Punda is a great shopping area. The port inside the island is a great natural harbor called Schottegat. Willemstad's population is mostly African or mixed African and European descent. In all, more than 50 different ethnic backgrounds are represented here and the people are very proud of the island's international flavor. It is one of the richest cities in the world in terms of culture and diversity. And there are 38 spectacular beaches, diving, snorkeling and swimming areas.

The island has something to offer for everyone visible history vibrant culture splendid nightlife impressive natural sites extensive shopping great dive sites and beautiful beaches Whether it?s your first vacation to Curacao or your fifth for many people it?s not just once there is always something new to discover

There is something here for everyone right next to Punda is Pietermaai Curaçao Once inside the atmosphere of a walk through an ancient cave a visit to Museum Savonet located in the National Christoffel Park a visit to one of the most beautiful Boca?s on the rough north side a drive to the most Western Point of the island. Curacao is a diverse island full of things to do from swimming in the ocean to hiking to visiting one of its many casinos there?s something for everyone The island has a unique landscape to explore much of it being desert like but there are geous and dramatic limestone cliffs up north and rolling hills in the middle.
