"Pressestimmen 'Ghost of by Diana Khoi Nguyen wrestles with what remains in the wake of a death in the family. Nguyen's work is neither an exorcism nor an unhaunting, but a mourning song that reaches across time, space, and distance toward loved ones, ancestors, and strangers.'--Alex Crowley 'Publishers Weekly' (1/1/2017 12:00:00 AM)'Nguyen's shape-shifting poems confront death, displacement, and the emptiness within and around us. In 'An Empty House is a Debt,' she explores this 'negative space' with remarkable precision: 'This craving carves a cave.' In 'The Exodus,' Nguyen traces trauma and its heirs from Saigon to Los Angeles: 'And if you bypassed a war, a war / wouldn't bypass you.' '--Briana Shemroske 'Publishers Weekly' (1/1/2018 12:00:00 AM)'This is a collection about leaving, about absence--a mother fleeing Vietnam, an infant, 'two minutes after [she] was born, ' already making her 'first evacuation, ' and, most of all, a brother leaving emptiness behind him in death. In her poem 'Family Ties,' Nguyen remembers the evening her brother 'cut out only his face from every / photograph in the hall.' '--Briana Shemroske 'Arkansas International' (1/1/2018 12:00:00 AM) Über den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende Born in Los Angeles, DIANA KHOI NGUYEN is a poet and multimedia artist whose work has appeared widely in literary journals such as Poetry, American Poetry Review, Boston Review, PEN America, and The Iowa Review, among others. A winner of the 92Y's Discovery / Boston Review 2017 Poetry Contest, she is a PhD candidate in creative writing at the University of Denver."
